Neighborhood Clean Up

On Saturyday September 24th 2022 Phoenix Revitalization Corporation sponsored a Clean Up in the Oakland Neighborhood Area just west of downtown in partnership with True Taekwondo Arizona and the City of Phoenix Neighborhood Services Department. It it always amazing to see people taking pride in their community and helping keep it clean.

Jenny Quezada says "Thank you so much for supporting the Oakland Neighborhood cleanup we hosted on 9/24/22. We were able to talk to our students about the importance of showing respect where we live just as we show respect where we train. We hope we can link up with other organizations that host cleanups in the future and definitely would like to continue hosting more cleanups in the future."

If you are interested in hosting a Neighborhood Clean Up in your area visit www.phxrevitalization.org/cleanup or call (602) 253-6895. The support is open to any organization, business or resident in Phoenix.

Phoenix Downtown Redevelopment Area Plan Update

The City breathes new life into a plan from 1979

The City of Phoenix Community and Economic Development Department is undergoing an effort to update the Downtown Redevelopment Area (RDA) Plan, a document that was adopted by the Phoenix City Council on March 13, 1979, to guide development in the downtown area. The original Downtown RDA boundaries generally covered the area between "the 7's" (7th Avenue and 7th Street), from McDowell Road to the north, and Lincoln Street in the south. The Downtown RDA was intended to fight blight and deterioration of properties in the downtown area and to facilitate investment and revitalization of these properties, all in an effort to create an attractive and thriving urban core. Since the adoption of this plan, downtown Phoenix has indeed flourished, with waves of investment bringing new infrastructure, new buildings, new businesses and institutions, new residents, and countless benefits to both the existing local downtown community and to the city at large.

In 2020, the City of Phoenix recertified the existing Downtown RDA which resulted in an updated boundary that consolidated several neighboring redevelopment areas, along with several areas not covered by a redevelopment area, into one larger area that covers the greater downtown area. More information regarding the boundary update can be found on the City's website (https://www.phoenix.gov/econdev/downtown-rda-update). Now that the new boundary has been established identifying an area in need of further investment, the City is now looking ahead to the future of downtown and crafting a new Redevelopment Area Plan to guide redevelopment.

The Downtown Redevelopment Area Plan is a document that will outline a set of goals and strategies to make improvements. The scope of the new Downtown RDA Plan will include demographic, economic, and housing data, development climate and barriers to redevelopment, community assets and needs. This effort will culminate in a report that will provide a framework for future redevelopment opportunities in Downtown Phoenix. In March of this year, the City entered into an agreement with Plan*ET, an urban planning consultancy firm, to conduct research and develop an updated Downtown RDA Plan.

A key part of this effort is to engage with downtown neighborhoods and key stakeholders to gather feedback and to keep the community informed of the City's progress. A Downtown RDA Plan Update Steering Committee was formed, consisting of individuals representing local neighborhood groups, sporting venues, educational institutions, and other key stakeholders in the downtown area, including the Phoenix Revitalization Corporation. This committee is instrumental in providing community feedback and guidance on the city's efforts to update the Downtown RDA Plan and create a framework for future redevelopment opportunities in downtown Phoenix.

The Downtown RDA Plan Update is an ongoing effort, and community engagement will continue into 2023. In the coming months, the City will be hosting community meetings to further gather feedback from neighbors and stakeholders in the area. All upcoming opportunities to participate will be posted on the city's website.

For more information on the RDA Plan Update efforts, contact Sofia Mastikhina (Community and Economic Development Department) at sofia.mastikhina@phoenix.gov.

Congressman Ruben Gallego Pushes for Solutions for Urban Heat

With heat waves expected to become longer and more frequent due to climate change, Congressman Ruben Gallego (AZ-07) recently introduced the Excess Urban Heat Mitigation Act of 2022. The bill creates a grant program through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development that would provide funding for eligible entities- including cities like Phoenix- to combat the causes and mitigate the effects of excess urban heat.

Excess urban heat is a phenomenon in urban areas caused by manmade factors including lower tree coverage, high building density, and a greater prevalence of heat-absorbing surfaces like sidewalks and roadways. Higher surface and air temperatures are felt in metropolitan areas across the U.S. For example, in 2020, 494 deaths were linked to heat in Arizona alone and according to data from the Maricopa County Department of Health, heat-associated deaths in Maricopa County have been steadily increasing for years.

The Gallego bill would help cities like Phoenix plant and water trees, create shade structures, install reflective cool roofs and pavements, cover bus stops, and open public cooling centers. Under the bill, entities such as local governments, metropolitan planning organizations, Tribal governments, and nonprofits working with any government entities could apply for funding to implement these efforts that offset the effects of excess urban heat.

Addressing urban heat isn't only a health issue either, it's an economic and racial justice issue as well. Latinos are 21% more likely than the white population to live in areas that are urban heat islands, and excess heat kills members of Phoenix's homeless population every year. At the same time, poorer urban areas are often markedly hotter than wealthier areas that can afford to plant more shade-creating trees. Nationwide, low-income census blocks across the United States have 15% less shade than other blocks, creating streets which are on average 1.5 degrees hotter.

Cranking up the air conditioning a little higher is not a long-term solution to creating a more livable city. Creating cooler neighborhoods will protect communities in Phoenix and mitigate the effects of longer and more frequent heat waves, ensuring that not only the wealthiest neighborhoods have sidewalks that residents can actually use, and children can actually play in.

For more information on the Urban Heat Mitigation Act, you can visit tinyurl.com/GallegoHeatBill.

Navigator Guides Add Extra Helping Hand at Phoenix Sky Harbor

Navigator volunteers at America's Friendliest Airport® are a critical component of the airport's success and operations.

The friendly and cheery volunteers easily stand out at Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport; whether wearing a purple blazer, purple polo, or purple vest and accompanied by a therapy dog, their mission is to spot people in need and offer a helping hand.

Now customers who self-identify or have a travel companion with a hidden disability can request help from Navigator Guides in advance of their trip. The service is part of the Compassion Cacti™ lanyard program, but this extra layer allows Navigators to go with customers to or from their gate, removing any lingering worries from the travel experience.

Navigator Guides are not a VIP concierge service, nor do they replace wheelchair service or accompanying minor services the airlines provide. They simply give customers and caregivers a little more help getting where they need to go while making PHX extra friendly by supporting the Dementia Friendly PHX initiative.

Under the umbrella of this initiative, the Navigator Guides were recently the recipients of the Arizona Governor's Office of Tourism Spirit of Service Award.

PHX provides Dementia Friendly training to the guides, as well as the "regular" training required of all volunteers, which is eight weeks long. This includes working alongside a mentor Navigator to learn all about the Airport.

The Navigator Guides operate out of the Compassion Corner. Customers are asked to call 602-358-4410 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Sunday, with the exception of Saturday. The office closes at 4 p.m. on that day.

PICK up your free lanyard and make an appointment to meet a Navigator Guide at https://www.skyharbor.com/ShopsFoodServices/services/compassion-corner
