Tonto Church of Christ Back to School Supply Give-Away

Tonto Street Church of Christ, the City of Phoenix Police Department Central City South Precinct, and City of Phoenix Housing Department raised donations for the Tonto Street Church Back to School Supply Giveaway. Together, event organizers raised nearly $2,000 in cash donations! Lerner and Rowe, The Mcquaid Foundation, Housing Inc., McCormack Baron Management, and Dollar General were among those who provided monetary donations to the event. Additional supplies were donated by Tonto Street Church members, City of Phoenix Police Officers and Housing Department staff. Nearly 100 backpacks loaded with school supplies were provided to youth living in the Central City South community, including families from Matthew Henson, The Symphony, and Marcos De Niza. Central City Precinct Officers and Housing Department staff joined volunteers from Tonto Street Church to pass out the backpacks and supplies. Children attending the event were able to participate in a youth rally and received a free lunch before the backpacks were provided. The event was a huge success and a lot of fun!

A Few Words from Vice Mayor Kate Gallego

Though we're in the swing of summer, business at City Hall has not slowed down. The Central City South community remains as active as ever and there is more coming up before the summer ends.

The Central City South community, led by the Phoenix Revitalization Corporation, recently hosted a meeting on homelessness and its impact on our neighborhoods. Community leaders and neighbors came together to discuss the problems they wanted to see addressed. I had a chance to speak to many active members of the community about the upcoming October changes to the Human Services campus. Thank you to Eva and the whole PRC community for hosting us.

In other news, Phoenix recently announced its newest Police Chief. Chief Jeri Williams has served Phoenix well as an Assistant Police Chief in years past and we look forward to her continued work toward making Phoenix a safe place to live, work, and play. Chief Williams is Phoenix's first ever female police chief and she has risen through the ranks of the Phoenix Police Department over her 22 years of dedicated service. Congratulations to Chief Williams and many thanks to Chief Yahner for his service to Phoenix.

Aside from the news about Chief Williams, I'd also like to report that there are three upcoming Land Reuse meetings. The goal of these meetings is to plan for the future development of noise-impacted area around the airport. There will be new information and updates presented at the meetings. I invite you to come and give your input about the City of Phoenix's Land Reuse strategy. Here are the meeting dates and times:

For more information on Land Reuse, you can visit <https://skyharbor.com/LandReuseStrategy>.

As the Vice Mayor of the City of Phoenix and your elected Councilwoman I am excited to continue to collaborate and hear from the constituents and neighborhoods in Central City South. Please feel free to reach out my office for further inquiries, concerns, or ideas at: (602) 262-7493 or council.district.8@phoenix.gov.

Enjoy your summer,

Phoenix Police Chief Jeri Williams

Escape the Heat and Fly North Nonstop Flights from PHX

Glenn Williamson has the perfect recommendation for a summer getaway: Canada.

"Canada is like your attic," says Williamson, who is the CEO and Founder of the Canada Arizona Business Council. "You don't get up there enough, but when you do you really find some cool stuff."

The U.S. neighbor to the north, which just celebrated Canada Day on July 1, offers a multitude of fantastic vacation options – and all easy to get to from America's Friendliest Airport®.

Imagine hiking around pristine turquoise lakes with a cool breeze at your back, walking to a gorgeous waterfall or visiting a glacier. Banff National Park, Jasper National Park, and the Canadian Rockies are all a short drive from Calgary. And, while in Calgary, be sure to check out some of their great attractions and dining options. Take a nonstop flight on Air Canada or WestJet this summer.

Looking for the major metropolitan experience? Why not visit Toronto? This cultural capital offers attractions for every member of the family. Visit the CN Tower, check out the Hockey Hall of Fame, meander through a summer festival, take a day trip and see Niagara Falls – the opportunities are exciting and endless. Air Canada and WestJet offer non-stop service to Toronto from Phoenix this summer.

Perhaps you want a city atmosphere combined with rich outdoor pursuits? Look no further than Vancouver which offers an abundance of art and cultural activities as well as spectacular scenery that visitors can enjoy by hiking, biking, or boating. A myriad of destinations nearby such as Whistler, Victoria, and British Columbia's wine country make Vancouver an appealing option for an extended getaway. Hop aboard a nonstop American Airlines flight this summer.

Canada makes for an easy getaway from Phoenix Sky Harbor. And, Canada isn't just a destination Phoenix residents can visit in the summer. Canada offers year-round entertainment for visitors, including a wealth of winter activities such as top-notch skiing, snowshoeing, and more. Air Canada, American, and WestJet offer year-round service to Calgary, Toronto and Vancouver, while seasonal service is available to Edmonton, Kelowna, Regina, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, and Victoria.

Says Williamson: "Go to Vancouver and experience Asia; go to Montreal and Quebec and experience France; go to Toronto and experience the most diverse city in the world. Canada is a cultural buffet for international travelers on this continent."

Coffelt Summer Update

Coffelt Homes had a well-attended groundbreaking in April, 2016.

Since then, demolition, earthwork and framing have kicked off this new beginning for Coffelt Homes. Demolition and framing are moving along on time. The project has 122 homes totally gutted, new framing is completed on 8 homes. There will be 22 homes available for occupancy by Nov. 2016.

Another exciting development has been the selection of 2 teams of artists who will reclaim and reuse metals from the construction to integrate art throughout the grounds of Coffelt Homes. Restore Arts will create a 25 foot sculpture entitled "The Spirit of Renewal" that will stand at the center of the $46 million revitalization. Martin Moreno of Cuervo Studio and Jose Benavides of Design by Jose will work with students at Arthur Hamilton School, located adjacent to Coffelt Homes, to design 50 metal medallions to be installed as landmarks throughout the Coffelt property.

"Both teams of artists will capture the community pride and sense of place, while honoring the history of the Coffelt-Lamoreaux revitalization, said Brian Swanton, Arizona President of Gorman and Company, Inc. and partner with the Housing Authority of Maricopa County.

The coordination of many services and programs are being developed for the residents. The plan is to have Maricopa County Human Services Department coordinate the various programs & services at the project. Valle Del Sol will manage a federally designated health clinic at the property. City of Phoenix Parks and Recreation will continue to provide children activities. Other partners include the Women's Health Network and the Department of Economic Security providing services to the residents. Si Se Puede a nonprofit organization will offer their STEM Robotic education, soccer and dance programs. They anticipate to start some of programs at the beginning of the school year, with the additional programs starting with the completion of the community center at Coffelt.

"This is an exciting project that will provide not only housing but services that will improve the lives of the families living at Coffelt "said Gloria Munoz, Executive Director for the Housing Authority of Maricopa County.

Jenny Martinez

I come from a place where education is the way out of poverty. A place where parents want their children to have a higher education. A place where the majority of residents are considerate and neighborly. This is my home, my community. I am a 14 year old girl with a dream of attending college. I have a set of goals that will help me become successful in life. One of those goals is to break stereotypes about my race; I am my own person. I hope to graduate from ASU, become a pediatrician, and help the community. I hope to become the type of person who is successful, respected and have a very happy life. I hope to be a person living by the values I was taught as a child.

Juan Alvarado

I come from a family that is somewhat unwealthy. I say somewhat unwealthy because my parents don't have much money, but we manage to stay happy with what we have. I come from a family that are considered as "illegals." This view acts as an obstacle as my "illegal" family members have so much trouble getting around town. This means a lot to me, when I grow up to be a successful person, I could change all of that. I come from a family who cares for one another, who are always there for each other no matter where or what time the help is needed. That is why I feel safe and proud of the family I have. I am only beginning to grow; I am a person who is only beginning to start a new trail. I am a person who will put in all the hard work and dedication it will take to keep growing into the person I hope to become. I am only starting to become successful in life, and with the help of the Phoenix Foley Alliance, everything will be easier to reach. I want to be an Engineer one day. I also want to become a person who makes big and positive changes. Now it's time to do what I need to do to make my parent's proud.

Crystal Diaz

I was born and raised in Phoenix, Arizona. I am also from an amazing family that is very hard working and encourage me to do better. I am from a community that shows me that helping people is a good thing. And I am from an amazing school named Lowell that has opened many doors for me. I am a hardworking person who puts every bit of effort I have into my work. I am a student who is going to be in the IB program. I am a person who loves to read and write. A person who loves to help others. I hope to become a pediatric counselor as well as an author and someone who is always giving to their community. I want to be a person who never gives up despite the odds. I hope to be a person that doesn't let what other people say negatively affect me. I hope to become a person that is willing to give it my all.

Arisa Caayon

I come from Phoenix, Arizona where I've lived here my entire life. I come from two loving parents that raised me Catholic and I still remain with that choice of belief. I am half Mexican and I am half Filipino. I come from a family that encourages me to be proud of my ethnicities despite society's views. I come from a family that pushes me to make something out of nothing. I am someone who is determined. I am someone who is the complete opposite of shy, I am brave. I am outgoing, strong willed, and according to my parents, siblings and friends, I am really confident.

I hope to become someone who makes a difference whether it's small or whether it's big. I hope to become someone who's not just optimistic about the future but in all aspects of life. Although it may sound cliché I hope to become someone who spreads love and kindness to where it's needed the most. I hope to become someone who gives back to not just my community but to the environment. I hope to become someone who makes an impact in this world.

Maricopa Skill Center Adopts GateWay Community College Name

For over 30 years, GateWay Community College and the Maricopa Skill Center have been affiliated with one another. On July 1, 2016, that affiliation transcended to a new level as the Maricopa Skill Center formally adopted the GateWay Community College name.

The location on 1245 E Buckeye Rd is now known as GateWay Community College-Central City Campus, with our location on Bell Road now called GateWay Community College-Deer Valley Campus.

If you drive by the campus on Buckeye, you may have seen this transition as temporary signage has been placed on the marquee and on the A Building to highlight this name change.

Also, on Aug. 22, GateWay will unveil a new website (www.gatewaycc.edu) that incorporates the offerings from all campuses into a single web presence, making it easier for prospective students to find a program that fits their needs, budget and location.

The Central City Campus will continue offering services to the community such as Deli Shop services and limited Beauty and Wellness services. And clock hour programs as well as some credit hour programs will continue to be offered.

Questions: Contact Institutional Advancement at (602) 286-8226.

FINANCIAL CHOICES IN HIGHER EDUCATION

No doubt that a College/University Degree is important and can make a huge difference in your future. Fifty years ago, College degrees were available at a minimal cost to the individual or to their families. Jobs were plentiful and many High School graduates moved toward receiving a Degree. In most cases these youths were the first in their family ever to receive a degree, as it was for me. As promised these individuals succeeded, and are those who are encouraging the next generation to do the same and to get a degree.

The problem is that today, the world has changed. Yes, you still need the College/University Degree to create a better life. But today, the cost of higher education is very expensive and there are fewer jobs available for individuals with a degree. Today, there is also a large difference between the cost of going to a University and the cost of going to a Junior College. I believe that for the first two years of higher education, both these institutions offer the same level of excellence. The big difference is that the University Education is substantially more expensive.

If you are a parent of a High School Graduate and are financially successful or the student can receive a scholarship, you might consider sending the student all four years to a University. But if you live in the Central City South area and are one of the many students whose parents struggle to be financially solvent and the only way that you can acquire higher education is to take out a student loan, then you should consider going to a Junior College.

Many High School students enter college not knowing what they wish to specialize in and may change their curriculum many times, during their college time. Others may not wish to continue with higher education and will drop out. If these scenarios could happen to you, you certainly do not wish to be in substantial debt, several years after entering College.

Yes, College Degrees are just important today as they were fifty years ago, but today you have to be smart on how you pursue these academic attainments. Today there are many young adults who are struggling to survive and are burdened by large college financial debt. It is like trying to swim with a fifty pound weight hung around your neck. Unless you are a very good swimmer you will drown.

As you graduate from High School, and are living in the Central City South area, discuss your options with your parents and make the smart decision. For the first two years; make the decision to attend a Junior College.

Preparing Your Child for Kindergarten

Success Starts Early

For young kids entering kindergarten, summer is the ideal time to instill the skills that will make the transition to school smoother. Families can use fun, everyday activities to help kids develop basic skills to build on and prepare them for kindergarten success. First Things First has gathered tips to help families get their little ones ready for success in kindergarten.

Below are tips to help your family have a fun, easy transition to kindergarten:

- Read with your child at least 20 minutes per day. Try books that repeat words; involve activities like counting, identifying colors, objects or letters; or, are about things your child likes. Ask questions like, "What do you think happens next?"
- Talk with your child everywhere – at home, in the car, at the store. Make up stories or songs about your outings.
- Writing begins with scribbling. Give your child safe writing tools to play with, like crayons, chalk or markers and blank paper. Ask your child to tell you about their drawings.
- Schedule a visit with your child's doctor and dentist. Health problems make concentrating difficult.
- Teach your child how to use the bathroom by themselves, to wash their hands after going to the bathroom and before eating, to blow their nose and sneeze into their elbow.

Before the first day:

Talk with your child about what to expect during the school day and types of after-school activities they may be involved in. The more details kids know, the less anxious they will feel. Rehearse for the big day with test-runs of the new routine:

- Wake up with plenty of time to get ready.
- Fix a healthy breakfast together.
- Lay out clothes the night before.
- If your child takes a school bus, walk to the bus stop and talk about boarding and where to sit. If you will drive to school, talk about landmarks along the way.
- Pack a nutritious, tasty lunch and practice opening things together. Remind them that teachers or lunch staff can help if needed.

Even if you don't have kindergarteners this year, it's never too early to start helping kids prepare. Children who have positive early childhood experiences tend to score higher on school readiness assessments and are more likely to do well in school and graduate.

By turning everyday moments into learning moments, we can send our children to school with the skills – and the love of learning – that will help them succeed in kindergarten and beyond!

About First Things First – First Things First is a voter-created, statewide organization that funds early education and health programs to help kids be successful once they enter kindergarten. Decisions about how those funds are spent are made by local councils staffed by community volunteers. To learn more, visit azfff.gov.
