- 1. Seek shade
- 2. Wear protective clothing
- 3. Generously apply sunscreen (SPF) 30+
- 4. Use extra caution near water, snow and sand. These surfaces reflect the damaging rays of the sun, which can increase your chance of sunburn
- 5. Get Vitamin D safely through healthy diet and vitamin supplements
- Early detection of melanoma can save your life.
- Carefully examine all of your skin once a month.
- A new changing spot should be evaluated.

What Does Melanoma Look Like?

- 1. Wear loose-fitting, lightweight, light colored clothing
- 2. Avoid sunburns
- 3. Seek cooler places
- 4. Drink plenty of fluids
- 5. Take extra precautions with certain medications
- 6. Avoid hot spots

Source: www.strokeassociation.org

It's best not to exercise or do any strenuous activity in hot weather, but if you must, follow the same precautions and rest frequently in a cool spot. Taking breaks and replenishing your fluids during that time will help your body regulate your temperature.

What Does Heat Stroke Look Like?

ABC's of First Aid

First aid addresses three critical issues:

- 1. Airway, making sure that the person can breathe
- 2. Blood, making sure the person is not going to bleed to death
- 3. Cardio, making sure the person's heart is beating.

First aid might be as simple as putting alcohol and a bandage on a scrape, immobilizing bones so surrounding tissue isn't damaged, or it might be as intense as restoring breathing and heart beat. First aid can also be psychological, aiding people who are so traumatized that they may not be functional, and they need support and guidance to move forward and make safe decisions.

Benefits of knowing CPR

CPR, or cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, is an important skill that everyone should learn.

- You do not need to be a medical professional to know or use CPR.
- You never know when you may need this skill to save someone you love or to be a hero to a stranger.

Lifesaving

Situations may arise when you come across someone whose breathing or heart has stopped. Immediate action with CPR is the most effective way to save that individual, as an ambulance may not arrive for minutes. Providing CPR could mean the difference between life and death for someone who's unconscious.

It is simple just:

- 1. Make a call

- 3. Call the police in cases where you get no response

Places to turn to when the heat is extreme.

Phoenix Heat Relief Network The provides hydration, respite and wellness checks during the summer months. During this time, temperatures consistently rise above 100°F during the day. The National Weather Service issues extreme heat advisories during the hottest of these days or when nighttime temperatures remain excessively high. The Phoenix Heat Relief Network adds additional community resources to the ongoing efforts of agencies assisting people who are homeless, elderly or disabled when they are most needed. The network forms each May and operates through September.

Relief is....

- A bottle of water
- A place to find refuge and cool off for a while
- Lightweight clothes and hats to wear, sunscreen

When should I wear a life jacket?

- Always wear a life jacket when boating or rafting and when using an inner tube or personal watercraft.
- Children and inexperienced swimmers should wear life jackets whenever in, on and around the water, even if a lifeguard is present.
- Wear life jackets in open water, waterparks or other challenging environments and around cold water and ice.

How do I choose a life jacket?

- Make sure it is the right type for the activity
- Make sure it is U.S. Coast Guard approved. Look for the stamp on the life jacket
- Make sure it fits the intended user. Check the label on the life jacket for weight limits
- Check buckles and straps for proper function.
- Discard any life jacket with torn fabric or loose straps
- Put it on and practice swimming with
- Water wings, swim rings, inflatable toys and other items designed for water recreation are not substitutes for U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jackets or adult supervision.

Our mission is to create and sustain a radio platform to be used by the people. We will share the how-tos of radio so that our listeners can become programmers, producers, and active members of the station. There are no better people to share the stories, knowledge, music, and culture of Phoenix than Phoenicians themselves.

We are seeking support for the launch of the station, including:

- Volunteers for outreach
- Production,
- Fund Raising, Local Artists for content
- Donations received on website.

Offices located at Zion Institute.

On Saturday, May 21, 2016, Vernell Coleman Youth Center in partnership with Phoenix Revitalization Corporation hosted an "End of School Bash" where the youth participated in outside water activities like water relay, beach volleyball, balloon fights, water limbo, and water kickball with a slip and slide from third to home base. Great music was playing during the activities and after playing all the activities the youth enjoyed eating subs with chips and juice. At the end of the event, there were raffle prizes which included four backpacks with a towel, sunglasses, sunscreen, and aoaales. Youth from Fave Gray Recreation Center, Lindo Park and Marcos De Niza joined in on the fun.

A Few Words from Vice Mayor Kate Gallego

2016 has passed by quickly, already the half way point of the year is almost here. With summer approaching City Hall is quite busy. From budget meetings in the community, to City Council meetings, to neighborhood clean-ups and community task forces, my team and I have continued to remain busy as we work for the residents of District 8. Yet, with this work we are excited for the upcoming plans and progress throughout the district.

The lovely weather of this past spring brought lots of community involvement in neighborhood cleanups, gardens, and other neighborhood initiatives. From the cleanup in the 7-11 neighborhood to the urban butterfly garden in Grant Park, it has been great to see each Central City South neighborhood working together to create cleaner, healthier, and safer communities.

From March through May the City of Phoenix hosted community budget hearings throughout the City of Phoenix. These meetings allowed my colleagues and me to hear the thoughts of residents from all throughout the city. Thank you to every one of you who took the time to attend the community budget hearing and to provide feedback. Without your input in this public process the outcome of our city budget would not distinctly reflect the unique needs of each of our Phoenix neighborhoods and communities.

In previous newsletters I have briefly discussed the land reuse strategy program the City of Phoenix Aviation Department has been working on. Through this strategy the Aviation Department is working with homeowners, renters, business owners, and other stakeholders to develop a plan to reuse the vacant parcels acquired by the Airport through the Voluntary Acquisition and Relocation Services. While many other programs and neighborhood meetings may be on break this summer, the land reuse plan will continue to gain momentum and become increasingly interactive and practical. I encourage residents and businesses owners to come to the upcoming meetings in June. There will be meetings each night focusing on the various areas (North, Central, and South) in the land reuse scope starting at 6pm from June $20^{th} - 22^{nd}$.

Along with the work of the neighborhoods and city departments, there has recently been increased focus and work in the Central City South area from nonprofits. I have been serving as a co-chair along with Corey Woods from the Greater Phoenix Urban League on a Valley of the Sun United Way Task Way. The goal of this taskforce will be to creatively address various issues or barriers to creating a healthy community in Central City South—from everything from access to health foods/ marketplaces to improved public transportation. While it has been great to have a recent announcement of a grocery store coming to downtown Phoenix, we all know there is still a need for a more walkable and accessible market place for the community directly south of downtown.

With the light rail plans of coming down south, it will be exciting to see the changes and resources brought to the area. I encourage all the residents to stay informed and connected through all the various upcoming meetings as Valley Metro and the City of Phoenix Transit Department reach out to the residents and neighborhoods in the area. There is great successes and work occurring in Central City South through the collaboration of residents, nonprofits, businesses, and residents. These neighborhoods directly south of downtown are brimming with attraction and revitalization.

As the Vice Mayor of the City of Phoenix and your elected Councilwoman I am excited to continue to collaborate and hear from the constituents and neighborhoods in Central City South. Please feel free to reach out my office for further inquiries, concerns, or ideas at: (602) 262-7493 or council.district.8@phoenix.gov.

Enjoy your summer,

Vice Mayor Kate Gallego
